Friends of Seedtime,

Interesting reaction

A Pastor liked our discipleship class so much, he shut it down so he can motivate his whole church to attend.

It happened after the first day of our recent 3 day Bible study seminar. Frantz replied, I'm glad you like it Pastor. And we are happy to have another seminar so you can bring in more of your people. But for now may we continue? The Pastor said no.

It is common to have students react quite positively to our Bible study. Some will say they wish their whole church could attend. Most just say they will work to educate their friends in the church or at home.

This time we had a reaction so positive that it sadly went negative.

The Pastor has not rescheduled anything with Frantz yet.

The typical effort to gather more members of the church to attend is not successful. Those who have the spirit-driven desire to attend our class responded the first time. Admonishing members to enroll doesn't pay dividends. Students of the first class know they are the chosen workers to bring the rest of the church along slowly.

Simple Invitations

When we do schedule a second seminar at a church, so the church can make a stronger attempt to bring in more students, we invite the students from the first class to participate with us in teaching the second class.

They seldom avail themselves of the opportunity, but teaching alongside us is not as hard as it might sound.

We look at the Bible and presume that it says what God wants us to know.

Then we simply read verses and ask the class,
"What did the Bible just say?"
followed closely by...

"How does it agree with what we actually do?"

It's a wonderful time... if we don't get shut down!

Thank you for walking with us in ministry!

Off to Kentucky

Kentucky is now home to several Haitian men that we knew from Port-de-Paix where we lived. They are productive citizens in what Haitians think of as "the land of milk and honey".

Now, living in the land Haiti desires so much, what is their current understanding of life?

How might they speak to their younger selves?

Please pray for us as we travel to Kentucky to learn more.
