Friends of Seedtime,

Minor delays, significant growth

Walking another day in Haiti Christian ministry.

The boat delivering our supplies to Frantz arrived, but then informed us that our box did not make it on the boat. They were too full and ours was left for the next trip in about a month... maybe. This means our new Bible reading plans get delayed as well as other important supplies.

And this little thing too... We are at the point of recording several new radio ads to guide FM radio listeners in Haiti to a true faith in Jesus. The Sound Engineer has postponed our recording time on several occasions. He then sent a substitute engineer who managed to erase parts of what had already been accomplished. It's another day in Haiti.

Can we add this? ... The last Bible study led by Frantz finished April 17th. Like previous classes it ended with one more student than it began with. We liked that part. They liked the class and participated well. We liked that. When surveyed, none of the students had read the whole Bible, including the Pastor. That was not pleasing to hear, although it does identify a big need they have.

Seedtime always has some form of delay or struggle. But God continues opening doors for Frantz to teach.

Two small groups recently finished our 15 hour Bible study. The first group gave excited testimony of how much they had learned. The second group suffered through rain to walk to class surprising Frantz who often sees church services canceled due to rain. This group was eager to learn. The Pastor is already asking for another class for more of his congregation.

Now, we can add this... Two stations are formalizing his time on-air allowing Frantz consistency in his schedule.

Yes, the troubles are always with us. But... we get to see growth, from "not knowing their Bible" to "being thirsty for it's message".

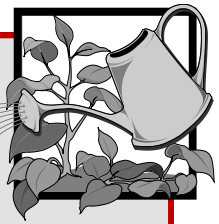

You walk with us in prayer and finances. We need both and pray for your continued support.

Growing our support is becoming an issue, as we see the need to bring Frantz assistance for his increased workload.

Pray about this. Seedtime's budget needs to increase. Maybe you can help.

Thank you for walking with Seedtime and Harvest!

Recent group gathered to learn their Bible. They have them, but they hadn't read them.
